The Boathouse ● 101 Palm Blvd ● (843) 886-8000 ● <https://boathouserestaurants.com/>

Reservations Recommended ● Monday - Sunday - Dinner starting at 5:00 pm

Our roots run deep when it comes to Southern cooking, drawing from family recipes scrawled on cards in plantation kitchens to the modern locavore movement we see today, and relying on South Carolina's natural fresh abundance. Upon opening in 1997, The Boathouse pioneered a focus on serving diverse and delicious seafood that could be found in nearby rivers, lakes, and oceans. Employing this dedication we have grown to become an establishment on the Isle of Palms and a year-round destination for locals and travelers alike, drawing our seafood and produce from local farmers, fisherman, clammers, and shrimpers from around the coast.

When you dine with us please notice the photographs which line the walls. These hand picked images were acquired through Charleston D&D Antiques located in downtown Charleston on King Street. The photographs were taken in the early 1900s by Albert Cook, a famous nautical photographer. Over the arches in the main dining room are photographs which are very near and dear to our heart. They display the Mayor and Mr. Thomas P. Stoney launching a ship at the Charleston Naval Base in 1929.

Coda del Pesce ● 1130 Ocean Blvd, 2nd Floor ● (843) 242-8570 ● <https://codadelpesce.com/>

Reservations Recommended ● Open Daily from 5:30 pm

Coda del Pesce (Italian for "tail of the fish"). The 70+ seat contemporary Italian influenced restaurant showcases the area's most untapped asset—the ocean, the view and menu highlight this incredible bounty.

Located on the main street of Front Beach on the Isle of Palms, the restaurant's interior and architecture renovations highlight the impressive backdrop. This includes floor to ceiling windows overlooking the ocean, restoring and featuring reclaimed woods for new flooring and wall treatments, utilizing natural materials like driftwood in areas such as lighting and using colors like beachy blues and grays in the selected palate. A small outside deck overlooks the ocean features 18 seats covered in an arch filled with Italian styled topiaries. This spot is perfect for small and more intimate gatherings. The inside host a welcoming bar area for a more casual island drop-in.

Most every dish at Coda del Pesce features fresh, locally or sustainably caught seafood in primi, secondi and piatti selections that change daily based on what's fresh and available. The core of the menu is reflective of the local waters and Vedrinski will offer a fresh perspective on this style of cuisine. Vedrinski offers his popular house-made pasta and crudo loyal diners have grown accustomed to at his downtown establishment Trattoria Lucca. Wines, all Italian, are extensive and mostly comprised of hard to find varietals, all hand selected by Vedrinski based on relationships he has formed with the producers.

Tuesday - Friday; Dinner only ● Bars: 3:00 - 10:00 pm ● Kitchen: 4:00 - 9:00 pm

Islander 71 is a nod to the easy going beach life of the Isle of Palms in the 1970's. Taking you back to when kids rode bikes freely, Dads drank beer on the beach and Moms sunbathed to a golden brown. Afternoons were spent crabbing on the dock, or catching Reds at flood tide. Dinner was a gathering time for friends and family to share succulent seafood and fruity drinks. Laughter and good vibes were in the air as the sky turned into a mango sunset. Overlooking the beautiful Intracoastal Waterway. Complimentary Valet Parking.

Long Island Cafe ● 1515 Palm Blvd ● (843) 886-8809 ● <http://www.longislandcafesc.com/>

Reservations are HIGHLY Recommended ● 5:00 pm - 'till

The Long Island Cafe first opened its doors to the Charleston community in 1986. Over the course of its 27-year history this hidden gem of a restaurant, inconspicuously set within a strip mall on the Isle of Palms, has been a staple of both locals and tourists alike. Set within a picturesque oceanside community, it is mere minutes from resorts like Wild Dunes, as well as golf courses and many other attractions. It also is not too far outside of Charleston, itself it. Much like the community around it, The Long Island Cafe has grown and weathered storms, quite literally in the case of Hurricane Hugo, in its nearly 30 year history.

In 2012, new life was breathed into the aging cafe when restaurateur Michael Proetto and veteran chef Ravi Scher partnered to purchase the cafe. Immediately the renovation began: New flooring, furniture, paint, artwork, etc. The menu was also updated. Many classic dishes can still be found and the food on the menu is still very seafood oriented, however, it has been re-imagined with chef Ravi's inspiration. Several new dishes are also available, as well as constantly changing appetizer specials. This new iteration of an island classic has been an instantaneous hit and is thriving while managing to support local food producers.
